Art Unit: 3635

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-11 are, drawn to an enclosure, classified in class 52, subclass 261.
  - II. Claims 12-17 are, drawn to a panel, classified in class 52, subclass 793.11.
  - III. Claims 18-27 are, drawn to a method of forming an enclosure, classified in class 156, subclass 60.
  - IV. Claim 28 is, drawn to a method of making a vault enclosure, classified in class 52, subclass 745.13.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the claimed combination does not require a pultruded panel formed of sheets adhered to support members. The subcombination has separate utility such as panel for use as a partition arrangement.
3. Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the claimed product does not need to be formed by pultruding the panels.

4. Inventions IV and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the claimed product does not need to be formed by assembling then removing a wall section.

5. Inventions II and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the claimed method does not require a plurality of spaced support members and the panel can be utilized to form a single barrier.

6. Inventions II and IV are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the claimed method does not require a plurality of spaced support members and the panel can be utilized to form a single barrier.

Art Unit: 3635

7. Inventions IV and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the claimed combination does not require the step of pultruding the panel members. The subcombination has separate utility such as forming an enclosure without removing a section or inserting equipment.

8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

9. During a telephone conversation with Mr. Robert Katz on May 22, 2002 a provisional election was made with right to traverse to prosecute the invention of Group I, claims 1-11.

Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action.

Claims 12-28 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

10. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371© of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

11. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Eckel.

Eckel discloses, Figs. 1-5, an enclosure having interconnecting wall, floor, and ceiling panels formed of fiber resinous composite matrix, col. 4, line 7, with planar sheet 12, 14 attached to a plurality of spaced support members 16 disposed therebetween. Fiber resin angle members or connectors 34, 36 serve to bond longitudinal wall panel to lateral wall panels. Overlapping joint is formed as by 58/84 or 60/84.

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
